This one-day workshop is designed to train current and future professionals to recognize and understand situations where international humanitarian law – the law of war – might be applicable.

Instructors:
American Red Cross IHL Unit: Molly Kovite, Legal Adviser; Noah O'Connor, Regional Program Officer

Learn about:
- Geneva Convention and Additional Protocols
- Fundamental Principles and Protections afforded by international law to persons and objects
- Distinction between Combatants and Civilians
- Direct Participations in Hostilities by Civilians
- Role of the Red Cross and humanitarians in Armed Conflict

Registration:
To RSVP, visit: https://law.wustl.edu/event/red-cross-international-humanitarian-law-workshop

Minimum Continuing Legal Education:
8.5 MO CLE Credit Hours available.